What's Around & What's Up in Crook County

HAPPY HALLOWEEN...

May you enjoy lots of spooky surprises and tons of happy memories!

Stay Safe....Watch for all the Ghosts, Goblins & Witches!!!!!

Kindness is a small, simple act.....

Always remember that everyone has battles they are fighting and sometimes ONE simple act makes every amount of difference for someone. A kind word, a smile, holding the door open, paying for the coffee behind you, leaving a larger tip than usual..... what ever it is, do it with purpose. You never know when that one simple thing will be the saving grace for someone. And...as always....don't judge anyone who needs to mask up, sanitize or distance themselves in order to do their best for sickness prevention and/or spreading. Again, none of us know what someone else is going through!

What's Up

Always respect others in their gatherings.

Your Round-Up is open ALL Holidays

except for Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's and always closed 2 weeks at the end of every year.

I'd LOVE to be out galavanting in a hippy van (but I'll settle for my amazingly cool Jeep).....but I choose to keep a consistent and easy to remember schedule for YOU (see box to left).

Deadline is EVERY Friday, 2 pm - NO EXCEPTIONS.

If something comes up and I need to be closed, I try to give adequate notice.....sometimes emergencies, last-minute fishing trips with the hubs and/or the monthly adventure trips we take do happen quickly.

Dropbox, email, voicemail & website are ALWAYS available!
Thank you - Capri

The Unplanned Detour

Most days begin with a plan. We make lists, arrange our schedules, and mentally map the stops ahead. Drop the kids at school, grab coffee six blocks away, pick up donuts for the office, then settle into a workday filled with deliveries, appointments, and responsibilities. One pathway leads to another, each carefully arranged to make the day run smoothly.

Until it doesn't.

Imagine arriving at work, placing the donuts in the break room, and bending down to tie a shoelace. Suddenly, an abdominal pain so intense it doubles you over changes everything. Forget the delivery schedule and morning meetings. Your next destination is the emergency room.

Now someone else is directing your pathway. Evaluations, blood tests, imaging, a diagnosis, and hopefully, a discharge. Meanwhile, your mind is busy rearranging everything that was supposed to happen next. Who's picking up the kids? What about sports practice? Dinner? And how exactly does three days of Jell-O and yogurt fit into the grocery list?

Life has an interesting way of interrupting even our most carefully organized plans. Sometimes the detour is inconvenient. Sometimes it's frightening. Occasionally, it reminds us how quickly our priorities can change.

But a disrupted pathway isn't necessarily a lost one. We adjust, make new arrangements, and continue when we're able. And perhaps that's one of the more reassuring things about life's pathways.

They're never really written in stone until after we've traveled them.

Wonder, What's Next?

A Tribute To Tall

written by local reader Pam Grudi

A pumpkin patch, a field of hay
Gusts of winds, leaves at play
Autumns sunsets, sooner each day
Seems fall has settled in to stay
It's beauty full and rich with color
Unique this season, like no other
Natures decorator becomes more bold
With deepening reds and yellow gold
And readies us for the coming cold
While winter prepares to unfold
For now the crisp fresh air of Fall
This lovely season has come to call

HALLOWEEN GREETINGS

An extremely shy and very modest man was in the hospital for a series of tests, the last of which had left his digestive system upset.

Upon making several false alarm trips to the bathroom, he decided that the latest was another false alarm, so he stayed put in his bed. Too late he realized it wasn't an alarm but the real deal, and he messed the bed. He was embarrassed beyond his ability to remain rational. Loosing his presence of mind, he jumped up, gathered up the bed sheets, and threw them out the hospital window.

An intoxicated man was walking by the hospital when the sheets landed on him. He started yelling, cursing, swinging his arms wildly, which left the soiled sheets in a tangled pile at his feet.

As the intoxicated man stood there staring down at the sheets, a security guard who had watched the whole incident walked up and asked, "What was that all about?"

Still staring down at his feet, the intoxicated man replied, "I think I just beat the crap outta' a ghost."

A young couple was invited to a masked Halloween party. The wife came down with a terrible headache and told her husband to go to the party and have a good time. Being the devoted husband he was, he protested, but she argued and said she was going to take some aspirin and go to bed and there was no need for him to miss the fun. So he grabbed his costume and took off.

The wife, after sleeping soundly for one hour, awakened without pain, and since it was still early, she decided to go to the party. Because her hubby didn't know what her costume was, she thought she'd have some kicks watching her husband to see how he acted when she was not around.

She joined the party and soon spotted her husband cavorting around on the dance floor. He was dancing with every nice chick he could, and copping a feel here and taking a little kiss there. His wife sidled up to him and flirted and danced, enjoying every second of the masquerade.

Finally, her husband couldn't stand it and propositioned her and she promptly agreed, he was HER husband after all.

Just before the midnight unmasking, she slipped out, went home and put the costume away and got into bed, wondering what kind of explanation he would have for his notorious behavior. She was sitting up reading when he came in and she asked what he had done.

"Oh, the same ole thing. You know I never have a good time when you're not there." Then she asked, "Did you dance much?" He replied, "I never even danced one dance. When I got to the party, Pete, Bill and some other guys and I went to the den to play poker. I'll tell you what...the guy I loaned my costume to said he had FUN!!"
