EMOTIONAL INTELLIGENCE:

REFUSE TO GIVE OTHERS POWER OVER YOUR FEELINGS BY REALIZING
YOU CANNOT CONTROL WHAT PEOPLE SAY...BUT YOU CAN CONTROL HOW YOU REACT

'Tis that time of year again..... Please be mindful when out and about. If you are sick or not feeling well, please use common sense in precaution to prevent sharing with everyone else. A simple sickness for some, isn't always that way for others. Sneezes and/or cough into the crook of your arm, that's simple enough for us all to do! And please, for all that is holy, be KIND if someone has a mask on - you do not know the scope of their reasoning. It really just takes simple acts of kindness for us to each live in this world together.....differences of opinions and/or beliefs make life much more interesting so don't get ugly when someone feels different than you!

What's Up

PLEASE NOTE: Events may be altered/canceled after publication has gone to print. Your Round-Up makes every effort to provide accurate/precise information! ALSO, information is gathered from various sources, including public forums and is intended to give the community awareness and opportunity to participate..not to harass, demean or interfere in events that differ from their preference. Always respect others in their gatherings.

ATTN: Publication deadline is FRI, 2 pm for all ads/info to be submitted to be published in the following Wed print - no exceptions.

When responding to an ad - be mindful of the time you call/text - not everyone has the same schedule and when you call/text late at night, it is troublesome. Some people must keep their phones on during their sleep time for emergency contact purposes.....please be respectful. Thank you, Capri

Your Round-Up is open ALL Holidays except for Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's and always closed 2 weeks at the end of every year.

I'd LOVE to be out galavanting in a hippy van (but I'll settle for my amazingly cool Jeep)..... but I choose to keep a consistent and easy to remember schedule for YOU (see box to left).

Deadline is EVERY Friday, 2 pm - NO EXCEPTIONS.

If something comes up and I need to be closed, I always try to give adequate notice.....sometimes emergencies, last-minute fishing trips with the hubs (not often) and/or the monthly adventure trips we take do happen quickly.

Dropbox, email, voicemail & website are ALWAYS available!
Thank you - Capri

Ferrets, ferrets, ferrets!! We have 3 sisters, 1.5 years old. We've had them since they were about 6 months old and love them immensely, however, our Sphynx is highly allergic and it prevents us from allowing them to be able to run freely around the house. They do live comfortably in their spacious ferret abode and we let them out to run freely in one room and will do so forever if we aren't able to rehome them. They come with any supplies we have for them, incl hutch. Must stay together. $500 for all (obo). Call/text 541-815-6954. Can text photos. (CWufn)

STAT

A doctor answered the phone and heard the familiar voice of a colleague on the other end of the line say, “We need a fourth for poker.”

As he was putting on his coat, his wife asked, "Is it serious?"

"Oh, YES," the doctor answered. "In fact, there are three doctors there already."

Revenge of the Roomba

I have always wanted and not wanted a cleaning person. On the one hand, I want very much for someone else to clean our house, as neither I nor my husband, Ed, has shown any aptitude for it. On the other hand, I'd feel guilty inflicting such distasteful drudgery on another human being. No one but me, for instance, should have to clean up the dental floss heaped like spaghetti near the wastebasket where I toss it each night, never catching on that floss is not something that can be thrown with a high degree of accuracy.

You can imagine my joy upon reading that the iRobot company has invented a robotic vacuum. They call it Roomba. Their website plays an animated clip of what appears to be an enlarged CD Walkman scooting across a living room carpet, sucking up conspicuous chunks of unidentified garbage. Meanwhile, sentences run across the screen: "I'm having lunch with a friend"....."I'm planting flowers in the garden." The point is that you can go out and "enjoy life" while your robot cleans up the conspicuous chunks strewn about your living room floor, no doubt rubble traced in from the garden plot.

Roomba joined our family last week. Right away I changed the name to Reba, in order to indulge my fantasy of having a real cleaning person, yet still respect its incredibly dumb given name. As techno-gadgets go, the iRobot vacuum is surprisingly simple to use. All you do, beyond switching it on, is tell it the room size. This I calculated in my usual manner, by picturing six-foot guys lying end-to-end along the walls and multiplying accordingly.

I started Reba off in the bedroom. I was on my way out the door to enjoy life, when I heard a crash. My vacuuming robot had tangled itself up in the telephone cord and then headed off in the other direction, pulling the phone off the nightstand and onto the floor. "Maybe Reba needs to make a call," said Ed.

I couldn't, in all fairness, be annoyed, as I'm the sort of person who gets up to go to the bathroom on airplanes without first unplugging my headphones. Only the fact that my head is attached to my neck prevents it from being yanked off onto the floor.

Also, it tells you right there in the Owner's Manual to "pick up objects like clothing, loose papers, power cords..just as you would before using a regular vacuum cleaner."

This poses something of a problem in our house. The corners and the floor space along the walls and under the furniture in the office, for instance, are filled with stacks and bags of what I call Ed's desk runoff. My husband is a man who does not easily throw things away. Whatever he gets in the mail or empties from his pockets he simply deposits on the nearest horizontal surface.

Once a week, like the neighborhood garbage truck, I collect Ed's discards and throw them onto a vast, heaping landfill located on his desk. At a certain point, determined by the angle of the slope and the savagery of my throws, the pile will begin to slide. This is Ed's cue to shovel a portion of it into a shopping bag, which he then puts on the floor somewhere with the intent to go through it later (later here meaning never)!

Remodels, new builds, small projects!

A motorist was driving in the country when he came upon a priest and a rabbi standing on the shoulder of the road, fishing. Next to them was a sign that read, "Turn Around. The End Is Near!"

The motorist didn't like to be preached to, so he rolled down the window and yelled, "Mind your own business, you religious nuts!"

A few second later the two fishermen heart tires screech, then a splash.

The rabbi turned to the priest and said, "I told you we should've just written, 'Bridge Out.'"

Help aid the Rictor family in their medical journey

The Rictor family had a tragic accident happen to their son and he had to be life flighted for additional care. He passed peacefully surrounded by his family at Dorenbechers on Friday, September 12, 2025.

His dad, Zach, is a wildland firefighter and engine captain with the Prineville Bureau of Land Management and his mom, Dauna, is an Administrative Specialist for wildland firefighting with the Oregon Department of Forestry. They are with their son, daughter and family at the hospital. With the amount of medical bills, temporary housing, as well as regular bills, we are asking for donations to help support them through this difficult time.

If you know the family, they ask that you please respect their privacy, send prayers, they will make contact when they are comfortable in doing so.

Just for Fun

Mom and dad were headed to the hospital with my 15-year-old sister, who was scheduled to undergo a tonsillectomy. During the ride they talked about the procedure.

“Dad,” my sister asked, “how are they going to keep my mouth open during surgery?”

Without any hesitation at all, dad said, “They’re going to give you a phone!”

"Don't forget your apple pie and bullets!!" - Bill

Throughout her pregnancy, my sister Joanne insisted that she wanted no medication during labor. When the big day came, though, she wondered if she had made the right decision.

Knowing my sister's stance on drugs, the midwife did everything else to ease Joanne's pain. "You look uncomfortable," she said at one point. "Would you like to change positions?"

"YES!" Joanne replied. "I want to be the midwife!"

oops!

GASP!!!!

Turns out that I'm not perfect after all.....oh no, I'm human!!!

One of my faithful readers, Janet, was kind enough to let me know that there's been a time (maybe two) where a puzzle (crossword, word search, etc) may not match up with the solution that is posted.

Eh.....I try so hard...but apparently my superpowers have a little dust on them! OR....maybe I'm just seeing if y'all are paying attention!!!! :) If you see something, let me know...I can't fix what I don't know about!

Errors are never purposely published!

My wife and her friend, Karen, were talking about their labor-saving devices as they pulled into our driveway. Karen said, "I love my new garage door opener."

"I love mine too," my wife replied, and honked the horn three times. That was the signal for me to come out and open the garage door.
